

Alexander O. Govorov is a Distinguished Professor of Theoretical Physics at Ohio University in Athens, United States. He received his PhD in 1991 from the Institute of Semiconductor Physics in Novosibirsk, Russia. In 2001 he moved to the U.S. and joined Ohio University. His research focuses on the theory of optical and electronic properties of nanostructures and bio-assemblies. His theoretical predictions motivated experiments in many research labs worldwide. Dr.

Govorov is the author of more than 240 papers. He is a Fellow of the American Physical Society and a recipient of several international awards including the Friedrich Wilhelm Bessel Research Award from the A. v. Humboldt Foundation (Germany), the Ikerbasque Fellow Award (Spain), the Walton Visitor Award (Ireland), the Chang Jiang (Yangtze River) Chair Professorship (China), the 2014 Jacques-Beaulieu Excellence Research Chair Award (INRS, Montreal, Canada), and the 2017 Short-Term 1000-Talant Award (Sichuan, China).
